Dana Ray Bennett is a sincere and unapologetic advocate for women and minorities in leadership. With over 18 years of experience in Corporate America, Dana founded Kingdom, Inc. to help serve churches, non-profit organizations and small businesses capitalize on proven strategies. She specializes in financial compliance, leadership development, mission/legacy planning, team building, and communication. Dana travels as a public speaker, author, and trainer. When she is not helping organizations grow, Dana is serving as co-pastor at her local church where she diligently pours into others without reserve. She is also a licensed broker and professional real estate investor.

Dana counts it an honor to have the opportunity to speak via various platforms from boardrooms to pulpits. She is a wife, mother, business owner, pastor, public speaker, author, and leadership strategist – most of all she is a daughter of the King.
